

WORKFLOW MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

Introduction

Kara WorkFlow Management System is an intuitive solution for professional process and decision modeling. Whether you want to create current-state documentation or target concepts, it is your best choice for establishing transparency within your organization and leveraging the wisdom of the team. With support for process, decision, organization, value-chain and journey modeling, this comprehensive tool fully supports the needs of both your business and IT communities.

Usage

Use it to take control of your daily work, in numerous areas such as requests data submission, approval workflow, card printing and integration with third party systems. Our software puts the proven benefits of lean management within easy reach, including greater agility, improved efficiency and higher quality outcomes. We understand that businesses lose several hours a week to repetitive manual work that is better suited to be automated, so our goal is to give you the tools to streamline your processes and keep track of the day-to-day tasks so you can make a greater impact in your industry. Rather than spending countless hours getting over a learning curve that ends up costing you valuable business hours.

With KaraWorkFlow users can quickly adapt, no learning manuals or IT involvement required. Imagine all you can accomplish when you and your team break free of low-value manual work.

Let us show you a future where every doer in the world can take control to make a greater impact at work. It's time to bring Lean Process Management best practices to your department, and score the superpowers you need to organize and own your processes.

What business problems will KaraWorkFlow solve for you?

As a visual workflow manager, KaraWorkFlow displays your data form in a page that can be labeled, filtered, prioritized and/or assigned to a member, eliminating the “what is he working on question?” the “where in the process is the project” question, the “was my ID request approved?” question and countless other inquiries you spend precious time pondering about, or forgetting altogether.

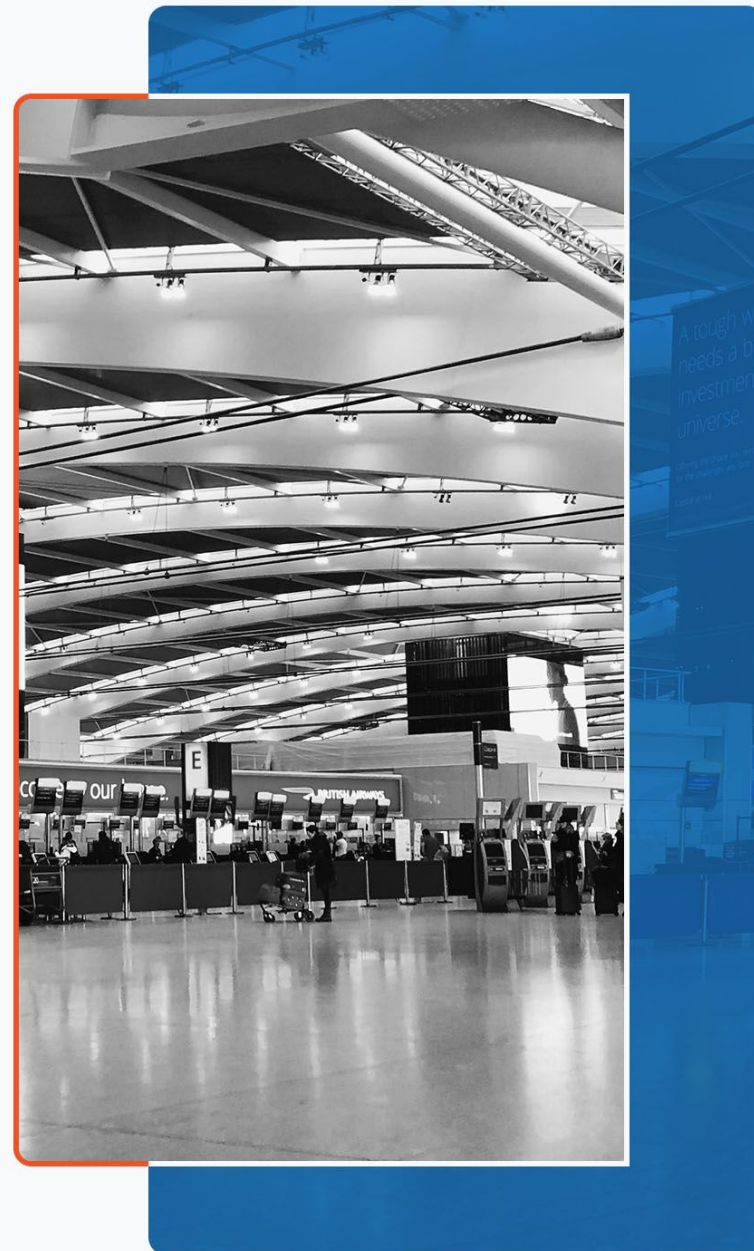

KaraWorkflow centralizes communications and interactions with third party systems, printers and other devices using email messaging and public forms. Leverage features such as request tracking, advanced reports and customizable databases that locate bottlenecks help make continuous improvements to your processes.
